

WILL BE CALLED EARLY IN TRIAL

Defense Will Make Fight On Credibility of Idaho's Witness.

BOISE, Idaho, May 7.—Realizing that its strongest witness is an acknowledged self-confessed perjurer and murderer, and that it will be a difficult task to convince the jury his evidence is worthy of credence, the attorneys for the State in the Haywood trial will establish a new precedent in a major criminal action, by calling him as one of its first witnesses.

Ordinarily a witness of this magnitude would be reserved for the last hour, but Messrs. Hawley and Borah, for the prosecution, have decided it will be necessary to have Harry Orchard's story carry weight, so he will early repeat his "confession." Then other witnesses following are expected to show what he swears to is so.

Will Try to Impach Orchard.
The defense will have many witnesses, including boy and early manhood friends of Orchard on hand to impeach his credibility as a competent witness. They, it is averred, will swear that from boyhood Orchard always was a monumental liar.

As Orchard says he planted the bomb which killed Stuenenber and alleges he was paid to do it by Moyer, Haywood, and Pettibone, it will be seen readily that the acceptance or rejection of his story will be the chief factor in the present trial.

At 10 a. m. Wednesday, Judge Wood is expected to hand down his decision denying the application for a bill of particulars in the case of Haywood, and the famous trial will proceed the next morning.

Although the city is quiet, a declaration in open court by the State's attorneys that witnesses are being tampered with has aroused considerable resentment and may have an influence on the securing of a jury, which already is acknowledged to be a lengthy task.

Only about 1,000 men are available in Ada county for jury duty, and the national statements about the case which are given local publicity will be acknowledged to tend to form an opinion to disqualify jurors.

Attorneys and friends of the defendants are not pleased with the charges of Senator Borah and his associates. They claim it is part of an already formed plan to convince the people of the country that terrorism rules and certain men are resorting to improper methods to clear the accused. Counsel for the defense insists that all its side words or desires is complete justice, and this, it is openly avowed, is free Moyer, Haywood, and Pettibone.

Twenty-six Veniemen on First Panel.
When the trial opens Thursday the work of selecting the jury will begin at once. But twenty-six veniemen are on the panel, and these probably will be exhausted in one day. Then additional panels will be drawn until finally all twelve seats are occupied.

The plans of the State for presenting its case are practically complete. Orchard, the star witness, will be called very early. It has been decided to call four witnesses before him. They will be persons who saw the body of the murdered Stuenenber and those who saw Orchard in Caldwell before and after the crime was committed. Then Orchard will be called to tell the story already given by him in his confession implicating the accused.

Prosecution Will Call 33 Witnesses.
The prosecution will call thirty-three witnesses in direct examination, and have twelve for rebuttal. Counsel for the defense has not decided how many witnesses they will need until after the prosecution's case is closed.

Today being an off day it is being spent by both sides in picking up all loose ends and completing preparation for the legal battle. No matter how Judge Wood rules on the defense's application for a bill of particulars, Wednesday, the real work of selecting the jury will begin Thursday at 10 o'clock.

Need No Troops; Idaho Witnesses Safe From Miners

Gov. Gooding

BOISE, Idaho, May 7.—Governor Gooding is angered at reports appearing in various papers of Idaho with armed effect that Boise is filled with armed men, that fears are entertained for the safety of the State's witnesses in the Haywood trial and that the Federal cavalry at Fort Boise is held in readiness for action in case of an outbreak.

The governor, Sheriff Hodgins, Prosecutors Hawley and Borah, and State Senator Borah denounce such reports as ridiculous and state authoritatively that neither the prosecution nor the defense has or needs any gun fighters. Haywood will go to trial day after tomorrow without any doubt.

Tomorrow Judge Wood will settle whether or not the prosecution must furnish the defense with specific information as to the acts and conspiracies in which Haywood participated in the alleged scheme of the Western Federation of Miners to dynamite and murder mine owners and civil officers.

It will really be a trial of all the outrages committed during strike in Colorado and the Cough D'Ale and Detective McPartland, of Denver, who has prepared the case, will attempt to prove that Moyer, Haywood, and Pettibone were instigators of riot and bloodshed. Witnesses from Colorado, including men who served as deputy sheriffs, and militia officers under Sherman Bell and Governor Peabody, are here and more are coming.

Thirty subpoenas have been served in Caldwell, where ex-Governor Stuenenber was killed.

As the day of trial approaches, rumors of startling surprises are in vogue. One is that the State will overwhelm Haywood and his associates by disclosures proving them guilty of a score of villainous crimes.

Steve Adams, who was expected to corroborate Orchard, has retracted his confession and Orchard knows it. The latter should decline to make this confession on the witness stand it would be a startling denouement to this celebrated case. The State's officers refuse to discuss any such contingency.

Killed Wife and Self, Wounded His Baby

ated that he would not give up the ring. Belling with rage, he advanced toward his wife and shouted, "You give me my watch!" She again refused, whereupon he quietly seated himself in the rocking chair and remained silent. It was then Rice planned the tragedy which shocked and startled the entire southeast section of the city.

Obtained Revolver.
Rising calmly from his chair Rice walked to the dining room. On the mantelpiece lay the .38-caliber revolver belonging to Mr. Grove, who is a special officer on Seventh street northwest at night. The five chambers were loaded. Mr. Grove had just come in from his tour of duty and placed the weapon near the door.

Picking up the revolver, Rice walked slowly down the hall with his right hand behind his back until he reached the parlor door, which was open.

Without a word or sound, he flashed the revolver in his wife's face. She was sitting down at the time but impulsively rose to her feet and held the child in front of her, hoping the sight of the babe would calm her infuriated husband. The screams of the frightened infant did not affect the father in the least, and he discharged the weapon. The first bullet struck the baby near the right thigh, passing through its little body and coming out on the left side.

Showed Him Baby.
With a shriek Rice turned her back on the maddened man and endeavored to cover the child with her arms. An shriek which aroused the shot her through the right shoulder, the bullet taking an oblique course and striking her heart. The baby tumbled forward and struck its head on the hard floor with a thud.

Shot Himself Twice.
As Mrs. Rice fell to the floor, Rice placed the smoking revolver to his breast and fired two shots, both of which penetrated his heart. As he lurched forward his head struck the sharp corner of a mahogany piano and a deep scalp wound was inflicted.

Screaming at the top of her voice, Miss Ida Grove, who witnessed the double killing, rushed to the back of the house, summoning her mother and father. The latter had just gone to bed, but he dressed hurriedly, and put his arms around his daughter, whose mouth blood was gushing as if from a fountain. He implored her to speak to him, but she gasped a final breath, and died in the old man's arms without uttering a syllable. Rice died instantly.

The baby was picked up by its frantic grandmother, and sent to a house across the street.

Policemen Arrive.
Within a few moments Sergeant Ellis and Police Constable Hancock of the Fifth precinct, reached the house, and Every Passenger Slightly Injured.

In addition to these practically every passenger on the passenger train was slightly injured.

The freight crew received orders at Rosebery's Rock to take the siding to allow the passenger to pass. The freight was pulling into the switch and had a flagman upon the passenger train came thundering down the track. Because of the for the engineer of the passenger was unable to see the flagman and he ran into the freight.

Both engine were demolished and all of the passenger cars were overturned. A relief train was sent out from here.

rifles in hand, and covered the engineer and fireman, telling them resistance meant certain death.

At that same time, three other men dashed out of the woods and sprang toward the express car, which carried a through safe containing a large amount of currency, reported to be as much as $100,000, from Seattle, Portland, and Spokane to the East. H. J. Horn, general manager of the Northern Pacific railway, says the robbers made no effort to enter the express or mail cars or to rob the passengers, fleeing after killing Engineer Frank Claw, of Butte, when they saw their plans going amiss. The fireman, name unknown, was wounded in the arm.

COREY MAY RESIGN AFTER HIS MARRIAGE

NEW YORK, May 7.—William Ellis Corey, according to persistent rumor today in Wall Street, will give up his $100,000 a year position as president of the United States Steel Corporation shortly after he is married to Mabelle Gilman.

Although Mr. Corey was re-elected president of the giant corporation a week ago, it was with the understanding that he would resign in the near future, according to the report.

CHATTANOOGA WOMAN Has Reason to Take Coffee out of Her Family.

"After drinking coffee some years, I became badly run down in health, had serious indigestion, flatulency, and nervousness, with severe spells of sick headache.

"My physician advised me long ago to stop drinking coffee, but I said it would be an impossibility, that I would rather die without my breakfast and have my cup of coffee.

"About six months ago I tried Postum Food Coffee and made it strictly according to directions. I was so delighted with it that I immediately discontinued coffee and began using Postum. I have not had a pound of coffee in my house since and never expect to again. All symptoms of indigestion have disappeared and my nerves are growing stronger every day. My weight has increased about twenty pounds and I am a much healthier person than I ever was in my life.

"I have known people to try Postum and throw it aside, for the reason that they made it carelessly. It has a delicious flavor and is dark and rich as coffee, but it is properly boiled, but a piece of butter in a pot, the size of a navy bean to prevent boiling over.

"My husband's weight has increased thirty pounds since he began drinking Postum Food Coffee. After I gave him Postum a few days, his appetite improved and he is gaining in flesh daily. You imagine we are strong friends of Postum Food Coffee. There's no reason to read, 'The Road to Wellville,' in p found the blood stained revolver, with four empty shells in it, lying under the murderer's bullet-riddled body. The three bodies were carried to Providence Hospital in the patrol wagon of the Fifth precinct.

The husband and wife were pronounced dead, and immediately taken to the morgue by order of Coroner Nevitt. The child was treated for the pistol ball wound and other injuries. At 1 o'clock this afternoon attending physicians said they believed they could save the infant.

Rice's Career.
Rice was twenty-five years old. His wife was twenty-three. His father is a blacksmith at Boyds, Md. Mrs. Rice's brother Charles, who is employed on the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, introduced Rice to the family. After courting the girl for several months Rice suggested marriage, and they eloped to Rockville on September 12, 1905.

After their marriage they returned to Mr. Grove's house. It was discovered that Rice had no intention of paying the board of himself and wife, and did not give her any money. They remained at the house for a number of months, and afterward went to housekeeping on Quincy street, near Second street north-east. Because of alleged cruelties, neglect and jealousy on the part of her husband, Mrs. Rice was compelled to leave him several times and return to her father's home.

Returned to Him Often.
Rice, after spending all of his earnings, where, no one seems to know, would beseech and entreat his wife to return to his home, and she would consent.

Five months ago, however, she again appeared at her father's home and asked for shelter, saying her husband gave her no money or clothes, but ill treated and suspected her. A few days later Rice came to the house and gained entrance to the household again. About four days before each day he would provoke a quarrel and leave the house for ten days or two weeks. Throughout the five months he and his wife and child were at the home. Rice's board was paid, although during that time he earned $250.

No Happy Moments.
There may have been happy moments during the marriage of the two, but none of the girl's relatives knew of them. The bereaved father, heart-broken mother, and hysterical sister-to-day regret that Rice was not kept in a mental hospital, where he would have been confined and not allowed to come near his wife.

No arrangements have been made for the funeral of either the husband or wife.

The expense of conducting the business decreased $299,000 in the three months covered by the report, and the net receipts from investments for interest, rentals, etc., increased $75,224, making a total gain of $1,565,324 for policyholders, over the corresponding quarter of 1906.

TAFT RETURNS, COLD HAS GONE

William H. Taft, Secretary of War, returned this morning after a trip of two days on the Potomac and James rivers and Chesapeake Bay, seeking rest and recuperation from a cold. He got absolute rest, the cold disappeared in the salted breezes of "tidewater Virginia," but at the same time he got something he did not seek—he recovered a few pounds of avoirdupois that had been worried off him by the great mass of work, and the scores of persons beseeching of him his Presidential views since his return from the West Indies.

These men state that Mr. Ryan merely promised the company to do all he could to have the bonds taken up and indicated that he would be willing to take up a part of them.

SAVE THE CHILD

Stronger Men and Healthier Women Needed

These happy children will be men and women in just a few more years. Will they be healthy then? Not unless they are healthy now, and they can only be healthy then by keeping them healthy now.

It is a mistake to think that children do not have indigestion. It is a sad mistake to neglect the health of their little stomachs. Their health and strength in after years, as well as their growth and development at the present time, is entirely dependent upon a healthy condition of the stomach, and normal activity of their digestive organs. Ninety-nine of every one hundred diseases that children have are due to disorders of the stomach and these disorders are all caused by indigestion.

How often have you seen a babe belch up sour milk? How often have you heard them complain of the stomach ache? Nothing but indigestion causes it. They eat at all hours in the day, and all kinds of food, and it's a wonder they live at all.

We can recommend to you the following formula: Tr Cinchona Compound, 2 1/2 oz; Kastor Compound, 1 oz; Fluid Extract of Cascara Aromatic, 1 oz.

It is good for children as it is for old folk. They thrive on it. It keeps their little stomachs sweet and encourages their growth and development.

Have this formula prepared at your nearest Drug Store.
